Rationale

Response:
Currently HSC 4143 is titled "Drug Education". When looking at the catalog course description (see below) and course objectives (see below), it was noted that the title "Drug Education and Behavior" would be more congruent with current course context/content. The proposed name change is also more consistent with the name and scope of academic programs in the Department of Health Education and Behavior.

In addition to better aligning with the scope of the Department, the proposed name also reflects the current expectations of future professionals from our program - specifically in their ability to move beyond addressing just 'education-based' antecedents and be more inclusive of the multi-faceted reasons for engaging in any health/risk behavior.

- UF Catalog course description:
 - o Broad view of the elements of drug use and abuse, such as individual behavior, environmental factors, and drugs. Drug taking is approached in a factual stance, i.e., what has been documented to date, so that participants can separate speculation and bias from fact. The emphasis is also placed on methods pertaining to the preventive aspects of drug use and abuse.
- Syllabus course objectives:
 - o Identify major drugs of misuse and demonstrate a basic understanding of their physiological, psychological, and behavioral effects.
 - o Identify current trends in drug use, misuse, and Substance Use Disorders.
 - o Recognize the range of factors that contribute to drug use and misuse
 - o Objectively analyze current literature in selected areas of drugs and alcohol.
 - o Identify and explain effective and ineffective approaches to prevent and treat substance use disorders
