Response:
This course number is used to offer independent study options as well as rotating topic courses. As such, the Department Curriculum Committee feels that accepting 6 credits better serves the needs of our students as it allows the option to complete the equivalent of two 3-credit courses. Independent study options for our students are important for allowing them opportunities to participate in field-specific learning experiences that are not traditionally housed within our courses. Furthermore, this gives students the opportunity to engage in learning experiences that are relevant to their desired career, but not housed entirely within our major curriculum. For example, if a student aims to work with a specific population, an independent study option could open the door to learning experiences that are more traditionally housed in other departments, such as Health Education Behavior--a department in our college that specializes in areas of addiction, accessibility to healthcare, and even working specifically with disabled populations.
