Course Description Crisis Communications focuses on key elements of crisis and issues management – before, during and after a crisis. In an age when a company's every move is subject to instant, vivid, unfiltered, and global scrutiny and attack, the need for effective, proactive crisis management is greater than ever.

Prerequisites PUR3000 (C)

Co-requisites N/A

Rationale and Placement in Curriculum Crisis communications is a critical component of public relations. This course is offered at most peer-universities as an elective and was the top course identified by our Advisory Council as a course that should continue to be offered. It has also been offered for 5 semesters with a full enrollment each semester.

Course Objectives Upon completing this course, students will be able to:

- Learn what constitutes a crisis – how it is distinct from day-to-day issues
- Develop a crisis preparedness plan and vulnerabilities assessment
- Understand how to assemble and manage a crisis management team
- Understand the typical stages of a crisis, and how they are changing in the social media era
- Identify and address the ethical issues presented by crisis situations
- Write a crisis communications plan, including a core set of strategic messages for each key stakeholder group (e.g., employees, customers, shareholders, government officials, key opinion leaders, community leaders, etc.)
- Understand the importance of opinion/attitudinal research in crisis management
- Develop a post-crisis plan, which includes learnings for the corporation and proof points for stakeholders on corrective actions to prevent a recurrence of the crisis

Course Textbook(s) and/or Other Assigned Reading W. Timothy Coombs, Ongoing Crisis Communication: Planning, Managing, and Responding (5th ed.). Thousand Oaks: Sage Publications

(available online at Amazon, iBooks and other sites) ISBN: 9781544331959

Students will be expected to be regular readers of some or all the following: PRWeek, the Holmes Report, IPR Research Letter, O'Dwyer's, PR News, and other selected trade and business publications and sites that cover aspects of the PR business. PRWeek and PR News are accessible to UF students through the UF George A. Smathers Libraries online database system. The professor will provide additional reading materials (e.g. media articles or book chapters) over the course of the semester.

Grading Scheme The evaluation of coursework will be based on the student's performance in four areas, each of which constitutes a proportion of the final grade. These include: attendance and active participation; individual assignments; and one group experiential learning project. The allocations for each are as follows:

Active Participation: 30%

Attendance and active participation are mandatory. Absences count from the first class. After due warning, the professor may prohibit further attendance and subsequently assign a lower or failing grade for excessive absences; more than two absences during the semester will be considered "excessive absences." You are responsible for notifying the professor in advance of the cause of your absence and, if it is due to illness, provide a note from your medical provider. For further information on attendance policy, please consult:

<http://www.registrar.ufl.edu/catalog/policies/regulationattendance.html>.

Individual Assignments / Case Study 45%

Individual assignments will provide an opportunity for you to explore various aspects of crisis management. These will include: to prepare case study on a specific crisis (current or past); to prepare a crisis preparedness plan based on course readings and lectures on pre-crisis phase; to analyze a specific aspect of an assigned case. Details will be provided during the semester.

Crisis Group Project and Presentation: 25%

This is a semester-long group project that will require you to work collaboratively with fellow students to develop a comprehensive crisis management plan, providing appropriate elements a client would use pre-crisis, during the crisis and post-crisis. Directions and team assignments will be provided early in the semester.

Grading for the course follows current UF grading policies for assigning grade points (see <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>).

The grading scale for the course is as follows:

A 92-100%

A- 90-91%

B+ 86-89%

B 82-85%

B- 80-81%

C+ 78-79%

C 72-77%

C- 70-71%

D+ 68-69%

D 62-67%

D- 60-61%

E below 60%

Letter grades for this course will be based on the total points earned over the term. For further information about grades and grading policy, please consult:

Course Description

Crisis Communications focuses on key elements of crisis and issues management – before, during and after a crisis. In an age when a company's every move is subject to instant, vivid, unfiltered, and global scrutiny and attack, the need for effective, proactive crisis management is greater than ever. And it is far more challenging. The structure of the course will reflect the crisis management process: pre-crisis (prevention, preparation, planning); crisis response (crisis communications and stakeholder engagement during the critical period); and post-crisis (lessons learned, corrective actions and reputation recovery). Emphasis will be placed on practical application of crisis communications theory, with copious use of real-life case studies and guest lectures by top expert practitioners.

Course Objectives

Upon completing this course, students will be able to:

- Learn what constitutes a crisis – how it is distinct from day-to-day issues
- Develop a crisis preparedness plan and vulnerabilities assessment
- Understand how to assemble and manage a crisis management team
- Understand the typical stages of a crisis, and how they are changing in the social media era
- Identify and address the ethical issues presented by crisis situations
- Write a crisis communications plan, including a core set of strategic messages for each key stakeholder group (e.g., employees, customers, shareholders, government officials, key opinion leaders, community leaders, etc.)
- Understand the importance of opinion/attitudinal research in crisis management
- Develop a post-crisis plan, which includes learnings for the corporation and proof points for stakeholders on corrective actions to prevent a recurrence of the crisis

Prerequisite: PUR 3000 Principles of Public Relations

- Critically evaluate their own work and that of others for accuracy and fairness, clarity, appropriate style and grammatical correctness;
- Apply basic numerical and statistical concepts;
- Apply current tools and technologies appropriate for the communications professions in which they work, and to understand the digital world.

Required Book

- W. Timothy Coombs, Ongoing Crisis Communication: Planning, Managing, and Responding (5th ed.). Thousand Oaks: Sage Publications (available online at Amazon, iBooks and other sites) ISBN: 9781544331959

Additional Readings as Assigned

Students will be expected to be regular readers of some or all the following: PRWeek, the Holmes Report, IPR Research Letter, O'Dwyer's, PR News, and other selected trade and business publications and sites that cover aspects of the PR business. PRWeek and PR News are accessible to UF students through the UF George A. Smathers Libraries online database system. The professor will provide additional reading materials (e.g. media articles or book chapters) over the course of the semester.

Online Course Administration — e-Learning in Canvas

<https://elearning.ufl.edu> will be used to administer the course communication, materials (e.g., PowerPoint files, additional readings, handouts, assignment guidelines, evaluation forms), and grades. For instance, an electronic file of this document is posted on Canvas. You can access the site by using your GatorLink username and password. Please check the site for announcements and/or threads of comments from classmates, and the professor.

Course Professionalism

- The College of Journalism and Communications is a professional school and professional decorum is expected at all times. Therefore, the students, and the professor, adhere to workplace norms for collegial and respectful interaction. Students are expected to arrive on time, not leave early unless prior permission is granted, and wait for the class to end before packing to leave. Please note the significant impact of attendance and active participation in your final grade (30% of grade) and be sure to show up and speak up.
- Students are expected to conduct themselves in an honest, ethical, and courteous manner — with classmates and the professor. Eating and privately chatting in class do not demonstrate professional behavior. Chatting while the professor or another student is talking is unacceptable behavior; such actions can result in being asked to leave the classroom and will result in a lowering of your class participation grade.
- Cell phones and other electronic devices must be turned off completely during class, unless authorized by the professor. In the event of an emergency situation, notify the professor at the start of class. Laptops may be used as a note-taking device. Unless otherwise authorized by the professor, surfing the Internet, checking or sending email, playing games, and other online activities not related to class are strictly prohibited.

Course Grades

The evaluation of coursework will be based on the student's performance in four areas, each of which constitutes a proportion of the final grade. These include: attendance and active participation; individual assignments; and one group experiential learning project. The allocations for each are as follows:

End of Course Evaluations

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.ua.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluer.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.ua.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

The Honor Pledge

The University of Florida Honor Code applies to all work related to this class. All students are expected to be honorable and to observe standards of conduct appropriate to a community of scholars. Students are expected to attend every class, arrive on time, and participate in class discussions. Assigned readings should be completed prior to class, and students should be prepared to discuss the assigned material. Any material discussed in class and/or covered in the assigned readings may be included on examinations. Students will not be allowed to make up quizzes. Exceptions to this policy will be limited to documented exceptional (as defined by the professor) circumstances and at the discretion of the professor. Students arriving more than 10 minutes late to a quiz may be prohibited from taking the quiz.

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.

Students with Accommodations

Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter which must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this procedure as early as possible in the semester.

Other Important Notes

- The professor reserves the right to make changes, if necessary, to the grading system, schedule, or other matters pertaining to the class.
 - The professor may be reached via email (fordp@ufl.edu), telephone (352-294-0493) or text (703-966-8138). Please be aware that the professor may not be able to respond immediately to your communication. As a rule, allow up to 48 hours for a response.
 - Students are not to consume food in the classroom or to use laptop computers other than to take class notes or follow PowerPoint presentations. Use of mobile telephones or other electronic devices is not allowed during class.
 - Students are not permitted to bring guests to class unless special arrangements have been made with the professor prior to class.
 - If you notice yourself having trouble in the course, it is crucial that you see the professor immediately. Please feel free to approach the professor about any concerns or comments you might have about this class. The professor will be happy to meet with you during office hours (Tuesday 1:00 – 4:30 p.m.); to ensure availability for 1:1 discussion at specific times, please make an appointment. We can also schedule appointments on other days/times by appointment. Ideally, every student in the class should plan to have at least one 1:1 meeting with the professor in his office (Weimer 3115) during the course of the semester.
 - You are expected to arrive promptly for class, fully prepared to discuss the assigned readings.
 - Any evidence of plagiarism or cheating will result in an “E” for the course and possible disciplinary action.
 - Do not submit the same work to more than one class without prior written permission from both professors. Do not adapt work from another class for this class without my prior written permission.
 - Do not adapt someone else's work and submit it as your own. This course requires original work, created at this time, for this purpose.
 - Spelling counts, as do grammar, punctuation and professional presentation techniques. If you would like help with presentation skills, schedule time with the professor during office hours.
 - An assignment turned in past the deadline will be penalized one letter grade for each weekday it is late. This is a business where deadlines count. You can't make excuses to your boss or a client if your work is late.
 - In addition to the required and recommended readings, you are expected to maintain comprehensive class notes because class lectures often contain information that is not contained in the readings. You will be quizzed on this information. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to get briefed by another student on the content covered in the class.
 - Misspelling company or agency names during exercises may result in a letter grade deduction. Check your work!

Dr. Marcia Di Staso
College of Journalism and Communications
University of Florida
Gainesville, FL 32611

Dr. DiStaso,

Thank you for reaching out to engage on the College of Journalism and Communications' plan to modify the Public Relations curriculum in UF Online. As I understand the changes, the following courses are not yet in an online format and might need future development in order to provide an array of options for UF Online Public Relations students: (1) PUR 4410 Principles of Fundraising, (2) PUR 4442 Public Interest Communication, (3) PUR 4443 Global Social Change, (4) PUR 4443 Crisis Communication, (5) PUR 4443 Internal Communication and (6) PUR 4910 Public Relations Undergraduate Research.

Through this letter, I offer my approval and support of your revised curriculum and simply wish to lay out some logistical next steps to ensure your online program is complete and your curriculum available in a timely manner for your online students. We look forward to working with you to implement these changes and to complete a quality review of all of the existing Public Relations courses that serve UF Online students to ensure that each course conforms to the UF Online quality facets and overall UF quality standards and markers for excellence. As such, with your support and the assignment of dedicated faculty to design, build, and deliver these courses, I anticipate this new curriculum would be available to your online students by Fall 2021, working through the UF Center for Online Innovation and Production (COIP), the home of all UF Online course production and support.

This is an exciting time for your program and we are proud to support your efforts and help you and your faculty realize them in the online undergraduate learning environment! UF Online looks forward to working with you and your colleagues to ensure this program thrives for many years to come.

Sincerely,

Evangeline J. Tsibris Cummings
Assistant Provost and Director of UF Online
