Individual Student Assessments

Describe the individual student assessments and the assessment method that will be used to measure each SLO.

Response:

- Required project activities for each credit of project are as specified below. Students must submit required sections of project paper in final form with APA references to the course website by end of semester to earn a satisfactory project grade. Credit 1: Develop measurable objectives for semester with approved due dates. Identify key stakeholders at clinical facility, complete needs assessment if appropriate, develop PICO question, complete critical literature review. Determine need for IRB approval. If IRB approval for project is needed, IRB training must be completed prior to submission of IRB application. Note: IRB approval may be required for both UF and clinical facility.
- Credit 2: Develop measurable objectives for semester with approved due dates. Develop Methodology section of paper; obtain committee approval of completed proposal, begin data collection or implement project if final approval is received.
- Credit 3: Develop measurable objectives for semester with approved due dates. Implement project (data collection or completion of project activities).
- Credit 4: Develop measurable objectives for semester with approved due dates. Complete implementation/data collection if needed, Write Results, Discussion, and Conclusions. Submit abstract for presentation, develop poster or podium presentation, submit project for publication if part of objectives. Close out IRB.

Description and Rationale

Briefly describe the modification(s), including the revised language, and provide the rationale/justification for the revision. Templates are available for the curriculum map, assessment timeline, and assessment cycle on the Institutional Assessment website.

Response:

The CON believe using 3 indicators of achieving the program SLOs is not enough as an improvement to the end of program outcomes we added a new indicator which is the final capstone project.
