Catalog Description

An integrated interdisciplinary exploration of selected themes and resources that represent the Black Masculine experience in North America, emphasizing continuity and change.

Course Description

Throughout American history, the perception of black masculinity and manhood has often been associated with negative stereotypes such as docility in the antebellum period to criminality in the post-civil rights era. The rise of hip hop in the 1980's, the Million Man March in the mid-1990's, and the election of President Barack Obama in the late 2000's has brought the idea of black masculinity to the fore front of contemporary America and given scholars a breadth of resources to critically analyze and explore the subject further from the perspective of various disciplines such as sociology, psychology, education, anthropology, and political science. This course will explore black masculinity from 1800 – 2012 via such themes as violence, sex, crime, sports, sexuality, geography, hip hop, religion, feminism, and black power. Key figures that will be examined in the course include Tupac Shakur, Richard Allen, Malcom X, Jameis Winston, and R. Kelly. In addition to examining these figures through literary works and popular culture, the course will also review film, music, art, and current events to further dissect and add to the field of black masculine studies.

Course Objectives

Students will 1) obtain a general introduction to the origins of Black Masculinity 2) Identify theories and theorists of Black Masculine studies 3) demonstrate an understanding of basic concepts common in discourse about Black Masculinity that includes general perceptions in behavior and pop culture 4) be able to summarize a general historical overview of the history of Masculinity within the context of African American culture 5) Explain some of the contemporary socio-cultural issues associated with various performances of black masculinity.

General Education Objectives and Learning Outcomes

At the end of this course, students will be expected to have achieved the following learning outcomes in content, communication and critical thinking to satisfy the 6,000 word requirement, Diversity, and Humanities Requirements:

	Humanities
Content	Critical Thinking	Communication
Students will demonstrate competence in the terminology, concepts, theories and methodologies used within the discipline of black masculine studies.  Students will know the history, underlying theories, and methodologies used within the discipline of Black Masculinity.  Achievement of this learning outcome will be assessed through quizzes, discussion question responses and rebuttals, final project, and lead group discussion. All assessment activities will receive extensive feedback from Dr. Adejumo.	<ul> <li>Students will analyze information carefully and logically from multiple perspectives, using methods that are specific to the discipline of liberal arts and sciences, and develop reasoned solutions to problems.</li> <li>Students will identify and analyze key elements, biases and influences that shape thought within black masculine studies by preparing a report that requires research and analysis of work done by multiple scholars of black masculine studies in order to understand the issues and concepts within the discipline.</li> <li>Achievement of this learning outcome will be assessed by the final research report and the discussion question responses.</li> </ul>	Students will communicate knowledge, ideas, and reasoning clearly and effectively in written and oral forms that are appropriate to the discipline of black masculine studies, individually and in groups.  Students will participate in directed class discussions throughout the semester in the classroom and electronically via Canvas to reflect on assigned books and peer reviewed articles.  Achievement of this learning outcome will be assessed through formal observation of student discussions during discourse in the classroom and electronically via Canvas.  At the end of the semester, students will also present information gathered and created from the course in through the final project.

Writing Requirement (6,000 Words)

The Writing Requirement for the Black Masculinity Course ensures students both maintain their fluency in writing and use writing as a tool to facilitate learning. To receive writing credit, a student must receive a grade of "C" or higher and a satisfactory completion of the writing component of the course. Satisfactory completion of the writing requirement entails receiving a grade of "C" or better on the final project report and a "C" or better average on the discussion question responses. Dr. Adejumo will evaluate and provide feedback on each student's written assignments with respect to grammar, punctuation, usage of standard written English, clarity, coherence, and organization.

Assignment Requirements and Evaluation

Module Ouizzes 25%

In each 3-week module, students will be expected to demonstrate mastery of the material for the week via a multiple choice quiz. The allotted time for the quiz is 1 hour and can be started at any time from noon Monday until the 1st week of the module Sunday Night 11 PM. Failure to complete the quiz by 11:00 PM Sunday Night will result in a zero with no chance for make-up.

Discussion Question responses (5,000 Words) 25%

- In each 3-week module, students will be expected to develop a critical analysis to the weekly discussion board question. Each discussion question will be a topic developed from the selected readings/videos in the module.
- In answering the question in an initial response, students will identify theories and concepts that are in the selected readings/video and explain why those theories and concepts answer the question.
- Each initial response to the question will be 3 (750 words) pages in length, double spaced, 12-point font and includes at least 4 citations from the selected readings/videos. Initial 3 (750 words) page responses will be due on the Sunday of the second week of each module and will be graded on a 100-point scale. See the grading rubric for the discussion question on Canvas.
- After the initial response to the question is posted, students will respond to at least 2 different initial responses of their classmates in at least 300 or more words using readings for that week and will be due the Sunday of the Third Week of Each Module. Each response to the initial question for the 2nd week and responses to peers in the third week of each module will receive extensive feedback from Dr. Adejumo.
- Failure to post initial 3 page (750 words) double spaced response by 11:00 PM 2nd week Sunday will result in a half grade deduction for the assignment. Failure to post 2 rebuttal statements by 11:00 PM of the 3rd Week Sunday will also result in a half grade deduction for the assignment. Failure to complete both tasks in the allotted time frame will result in

The final project will require students to choose 1 exercise from the following list below:

- 1. Interview atleast 5 students about their perceptions/experiences of black individuals who exemplify masculine traits. Your final packet will entail at-least 5 informed consents, New Protocol submission form (I am the principle investigator), the 10 question questionnaire, and a 1,200-word paper in either APA, MLA, or Chicago style format that synthesizes the perceptions/experiences of the participants of black individuals with atleast five peer-reviewed sources that is presented in the course.
- 2. Create a musical/spoken word album of atleast 13 tracks that focuses on the contemporary issues of black masculinity in the United States. In addition to the album, you will submit a 1,200-word paper in either APA, MLA, or Chicago style format that synthesizes the contemporary issues of black masculinity that is present in the album with atleast five peer-reviewed sources that is presented in the course.
- 3. Create a WordPress blogs with atleast 10 separate entries spanning 10 weeks that highlight 10 African-American figures, either male or female that in some way are masculine, throughout the history of the United States. Include a picture of each figure, a brief background summary, and a lengthy entry as for why this figure is important to yourself and to the United States within the context of masculinity. Each entry should be at least 300 words. In addition to the WordPress Blog, you will submit a 1,200-word paper in either APA, MLA, or Chicago style format that synthesizes the information in the WordPress blogs with atleast five peer-reviewed sources that is presented in the course.
- 4. Create a professional poster board with a dimension of atleast 42X63 using visual and textual content presented in the course. The content should be presented in story form to effectively chronical the information. In addition to the professional poster board, you will submit a 1,200-word paper in either APA, MLA, or Chicago style format that synthesizes the information in the poster board with atleast five peer-reviewed sources that is presented in the course.
- 5. Create a 15-minute movie based on the literary or real life figures that are presented in the course. In addition to the 15-minute movie, you will submit a 1,200-word paper in either APA, MLA, or Chicago style format that synthesizes the information in the movie with atleast five peer-reviewed sources that is presented in the course.

At the beginning of the course, groups will be formed for the purpose of leading class discussions for the day. Each group will create a PowerPoint and atleast 1 interactive activity that is centered around the selected readings and information from the course for that specific module. You can also use material from a reputable news organization or academic website to bolster your presentation. The PowerPoint must be clear, concise, and at least 10 slides containing a brief introduction and atleast two main points from the material that is presented in the module. The interactive activity must engage the class throughout the exercise and also must include each group member having a significant role in administering the activity.

Attendance Policy

Attendance for the Black Masculinity Course is mandatory. Students are responsible for satisfying all academic objectives as defined by Dr. Adejumo. Absences count from the first class meeting. In general, acceptable reasons for absence from or failure to participate in class include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements (e.g., judging trips, field trips, professional conferences), military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays and participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition or debate. Absences from class for court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena) must be excused. Two or more unexcused absences in the course can result in a drop in grade at the discretion of Dr. Adejumo.

Black Masculinity Course Outline

Module 1- Black Masculinity Introduction (August 22nd – September 11th)

Description- Students will be expected to provide a basic understanding of what masculinity in general is, its origins in the United States, and how it pertains to black individuals in America. Students are then expected to synthesize how the basic perceptions of Black Masculinity in America were performed in Antebellum America.

Netiquette Guide for Online Courses

It is important to recognize that the online classroom is in fact a classroom, and certain behaviors are expected when you communicate with both your peers and your instructors. These guidelines for online behavior and interaction are known as netiquette.

Security

Remember that your password is the only thing protecting you from pranks or more serious harm.

- Don't share your password with anyone
- Change your password if you think someone else might know it
- Always logout when you are finished using the system

General Guidelines

When communicating online, you should always:

- Treat instructor with respect, even in email or in any other online communication
- Always use your professors' proper title: Dr. or Prof., or if you in doubt use Mr. or Ms.
- Unless specifically invited, don't refer to them by first name.
- Use clear and concise language
- Remember that all college level communication should have correct spelling and grammar
- Avoid slang terms such as "wassup?" and texting abbreviations such as "u" instead of "you"
- Use standard fonts such as Times New Roman and use a size 12 or 14 pt. font

- Avoid using the caps lock feature AS IT CAN BE INTERPRETTED AS YELLING
- Limit and possibly avoid the use of emoticons like :) or ©
- Be cautious when using humor or sarcasm as tone is sometimes lost in an email or discussion post and your message might be taken seriously or offensive
- Be careful with personal information (both yours and other's)
- Do not send confidential patient information via e-mail

Email Netiquette

When you send an email to your instructor, teaching assistant, or classmates, you should:

- Use a descriptive subject line
- Be brief
- Avoid attachments unless you are sure your recipients can open them
- Avoid HTML in favor of plain text
- Sign your message with your name and return e-mail address
- Think before you send the e-mail to more than one person. Does everyone really need to see your message?
- Be sure you REALLY want everyone to receive your response when you click, "reply all"
- Be sure that the message author intended for the information to be passed along before you click the "forward" button

Message Board Netiquette and Guidelines

When posting on the Discussion Board in your online class, you should:

- Make posts that are on topic and within the scope of the course material
- Take your posts seriously and review and edit your posts before sending
- Be as brief as possible while still making a thorough comment
- Always give proper credit when referencing or quoting another source
- Be sure to read all messages in a thread before replying
- Don't repeat someone else's post without adding something of your own to it
- Avoid short, generic replies such as, "I agree." You should include why you agree or add to the previous point
- Always be respectful of others' opinions even when they differ from your own
- When you disagree with someone, you should express your differing opinion in a respectful, noncritical way
- Do not make personal or insulting remarks
- Be open-minded

Course Do's and Don't's

- Do check the announcements page every Monday and Tuesday for assignment updates
- Do check syllabus page on CANVAS for due dates of assignments
- Do email if you have any questions or concerns regarding an assignment
- Do complete every assignment in full and on-time to increase your chance to receive maximum points on an assignment
- Don't assume if you are unsure about an assignment
- Don't request extra credit, especially if you missed or made an unsatisfactory grade on an assignment

***Explicit content is presented in the course and Dr. Adejumo will set the parameters of profane language during the first week classes. Course assignment dates and times are subject to change at anytime at the discretion of Dr. Adejumo.
