Rationale /Place in Curriculum/Impact on Program: When ARH1000 was created, it was assigned the ARH1000 course number by the State Course Numbering System, even though ARH2000 already existed in the SCNS system. Then ARH2000 was cancelled. Now that UF is reinstating ARH2000, UF would like to change ARH1000's last three digits to something else, so that it will not be considered the same course as ARH2000 in the state system.

DISCUSSION GROUPS

After Drop/Add, students will be divided into discussion groups. Discussion groups will be monitored by the teaching assistant. Course-wide concerns and course content questions should be addressed to the instructor. Individual concerns regarding grades and assignments should be addressed to the teaching assistant. As an online course, the most expedient way of contacting either the instructor or teaching assistant is via email. At the same time, please allow a reasonable amount of time when expecting a response. If a student would like to meet with the instructor or TA, an appointment may be arranged via email.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course examines art from cave paintings to contemporary art by focusing on individual masterpieces. The course will introduce students to the art of India, China, Japan, the Americas, Africa, the Pacific, as well as Europe, the Mediterranean Basin, and the Middle East. This course is designed for non-majors as a topical introduction to the art of the world through selected masterpieces. ARH 1000 (passed with a grade of C or better) satisfies the university's General Education Requirement for Humanities (H).

Course content will be delivered online via a series of audio/visual presentations. Experts in the field will present material according to their specialties. Lecturers include:

Dr. Robert Westin, Professor of Renaissance and Baroque European Art

Dr. Maya Stanfield-Mazzi, Assistant Professor of Pre-Columbian and Latin American art

Dr. Victoria Rovine, Associate Professor of Africa Art

Dr. Jason Steuber, Cofrin Curator of Asian Art at the Harn Museum of Art

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Provide an introduction to art appreciation through selected masterpieces of world art
- Develop visual literacy of art as it evolves and develops throughout time and place
- Learn to identify and analyze key art historical elements
- Increase facility in articulating, discussing, and responding to works of art through written means

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

All students must: (1) complete the assigned readings before the lecture for which they are assigned, (2) view and take notes on all audio/visual lectures and presentations, (3) participate in class discussions, through posting and commenting on students' online discussion posts, (4) complete all weekly assignments, (5) take all weekly quizzes, (6) complete the midterm and final projects.

Participation/Discussions: 12%
Weekly Assignments: 8%
Weekly Quizzes: 50%
Midterm and Final Projects: 30%

PARTICIPATION is required at least twice weekly in the form of online discussion groups. Although this is a distance-learning course, where all material will be available and presented online, class participation in the form of weekly discussion posts (usually due on Wednesdays) and follow-up comments on fellow students' posts (usually due on Fridays) is required. Therefore, keeping up to date with course material will be imperative for success in this class. Students should respond to discussion prompts, but are also encouraged to pose complimentary questions, voice pertinent observations, and engage in focused reading and contribute to ongoing, lively discussions surrounding course material. See UF's official policy: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx#absences>

QUIZZES are given weekly, generally due on Fridays. The course is divided by chapters, which correspond to the assigned textbook, and each chapter's material will be tested through an online quiz. The quizzes utilize a variety of question formats, including true/false, multiple choice, fill in the blank, and short answer. All testable material will be drawn from images presented in lecture and the textbook, information provided in lectures, and readings from your textbook. Each quiz will feature 20 questions, and you will have 25 minutes to complete the quiz. Again, you will need to complete each quiz by 10pm on Fridays. Students may not take a quiz past the due date and time, and a missed quiz will earn 0 points.

THREE EXTRA CREDIT QUIZZES are built into the course to accommodate technical difficulties. The first two are cumulative quizzes, one for the first half of the course and one for the second half of the course. The third extra credit quiz offers you the chance to visit a museum, select a work of art, and write about your experience. No additional make-ups will be given except in the case of medical illness, and then only with documentation from the Dean of Students as listed below.

ASSIGNMENTS are due weekly, generally on Sundays. The assignments vary from week to week but generally encourage students to engage closely with a work of art and pen a written response to prompts provided. Artworks will make use of the online imagery database, ARTstor (link available at UF library website) and students will be expected to use this resource regularly.

MIDTERM AND FINAL PROJECTS are four-part projects designed to draw on material from the entire course to date. Within the parameters of the projects, students will be able to select and write about works that are of particular interest to them. The four parts include: 1) selection of works, including working ARTstor hyperlinks, 2) justification of works' importance uploaded to discussion board, 3) peer review of two group members' projects, 4) final submission for grading.

STUDENTS ARE ADVISED to submit quizzes, discussion posts, and assignments well before the due date and times to avoid possible problems with Internet connections or computer crashes. This gives students the opportunity to use a computer in one of the labs on campus if necessary. *If a student is still taking a quiz when the due time passes, the student will not be allowed to complete the quiz, so do allow sufficient time. In the event of technical difficulties, e-Learning Support Services (LSS) must be contacted. Any requests for make-ups due to technical issues must be accompanied by the ticket number received from LSS. The ticket number will document the time and date of the problem. Students must e-mail their instructor or TA within 24 hours of the technical difficulty if they wish to request a make-up. *If the ticket indicates a date/time after the assignment date/time, then the request for make-up will be automatically rejected.

GRADING SCALE

Grades are tabulated on a 100-point scale and a letter grade is assigned as follows:

93–100 A /90–92 A- /87–89 B+ /83–86 B /80–82 B- /77–79 C+ /73–76 C /70–72 C- /67–69 D+ /63–66 D
60–62 D- /59 and below E

TEXTBOOK

Marilyn Stokstad and Michael W. Cothren, Art: A Brief History (5th edition)

Published by Pearson Education, 2012

ISBN 10: 0-205-01702-9

ISBN 13: 978-0-205-01702-7

Students are expected to read 1-2 chapters per week from the required textbook. Therefore, ready access to either the paperback or electronic version is necessary for successful completion of this course. Students purchasing earlier editions (4th, 3rd, etc.) are responsible for any divergence in pagination and material covered. Students DO NOT need to purchase MyArtKit.

COURSE POLICIES

It is the student's responsibility to keep up to date with weekly course requirements. Although this is a distance-learning course and students are able to access course material remotely and on their own schedule, successful students set aside dedicated time at least three times weekly to complete weekly requirements. Students may access course information and resources via E-learning at <https://lss.at.ufl.edu/>. If a student does not complete an assignment, discussion board posting or response, or midterm or final project, he or she will be given a zero. Last minute extensions, make-up quizzes, and incomplete grades will be granted only for extreme, unforeseeable circumstances such as a documented hospitalization, a familiar emergency documented through the Dean of Students office (392-1261), religious holiday, and official University conflict documented by faculty sponsor, or pre-arrangements with the instructor. Documentation is required and must be provided by the student. Please check your UF email account and the email function on the course's E-learning site regularly for course announcements or replies to any emails you send. Please clean out your inbox to prevent any missed emails.

DISABILITY SERVICES

Every attempt will be made to accommodate students with disabilities. At the same time, anyone requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The Dean of Students Office will provide the student with the necessary documentation, which the student must then provide to the instructor when requesting accommodation.
