Rationale: The catalog description for ENC2305 states that the course advances students' critical thinking and writing skills beyond first-year composition. With wide-ranging themes in areas such as languages, political science, anthropology or biology, the course exposes students to the advanced analytical techniques and communication strategies that professors in all disciplines expect them to know.

ENC2305 was designed such that instructors choose a theme for the course, thus dictating the topic and the readings. Because of the generic title, students are not able to see the theme for each section in the Schedule of Courses. By giving the course a rotating designation, we will be able to provide students with the information they need to select an appropriate section.
