

Sylvain Doré PhD, FAHA

I joined the UF family in 2010 after 11yrs at Johns Hopkins. From the beginning, I have been most amazed with the “how-can-I-help-you?” collegial culture everyone shares. I am a tenured professor at the College of Medicine and while teaching and conducting translational research, I am constantly reminded of the quality and depth of knowledge of all our students—from undergrads to fellows—and Faculty. Over the years, I have served on various Task Forces (P&T, Discovery Tool, Collaborative Scholarship, Faculty Toolkit, Postdoc). My two terms as a Faculty Senate member demonstrates my active commitment to the principles and values of shared governance in academia. I originally served as a Member-at-Large on the Executive Committee, and now I am ending my term as the Research and Scholarship Council chair. I have had the opportunity to become directly involved with the administrative teams to focus on increasing efficiency and decreasing administrative tasks, while facilitating our respective academic ambitions. I am especially proud of our teamwork on: 1) the new P&T Collaborative Scholarship; 2) creating a tool to identify UF colleagues with complementary expertise; 3) establishing equipment and grant repositories; and 4) working to reduce administrative burden on some excessive training and required disclosures. With my experiences and enthusiasm, I am ready to contribute and encourage innovative ideas as your chair. In this position, I will focus on improving retention/satisfaction, equality, retirement and helping to position UF as a leader with national and international recognitions. Thank you for your vote. “Greater-toGator!”
