

Western Canon

Foundational works that shaped the development of Western civilization or played a significant role in shaping Western thought must be included in a General Education Humanities-designated course.

These works may include written texts, visual arts, performing arts, audio recordings, film, and architecture that engage the Western intellectual tradition.

Question on approval system for Quest 1 and Humanities:

What sources or activities does your course use to engage the Western canon?